Disassembling and Moving Furniture

If the shipper(s) will not take items apart, or if there is only one shipper picking the item up, you must reserve movers from a local moving company so they can meet there at the time the shipper will arrive. Liability for load out assistance is on the purchaser. You will need to pay the movers directly according to their requirements, prior to the load out date selected by your shipper. Please ask about tipping the workers as well. They do hard work.
